

He was almost out of options...

But you gave him another way out.

Revac-USA is ready to train your team to take advantage of the newest self-rescue technology available, the Petzl Exo (tm). This superior technology allows for rapid evacuation of a compromised structure, saving lives and keeping operators healthy in the process.

The key to effective usage of the Exo is training. At Revac-USA we possess a skill set unmatched in the world of safety-preparedness. Our expert qualifications are built on years of experience in the realms of the fire service, military, S.W.A.T. and rock-climbing.

Let our experience become your experience. Contact Revac today to set up your training. Together, we'll provide your operators yet another way out.
